Chamber reviews manager applicants, decision could be reached tonight

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce president Perry Gibson said a decision could be reached tonight regarding a new chamber manager to replace Mrs. Sylvia McComiskey whose resignation became effective April 30. Gibson said that the board of directors would review applicants tonight and, hopefully, name a replacement.

Mrs. McComiskey submitted her resignation to the board of directors April 8 after learning that some members of the board had approached an outside party with an offer of a possible position as executive director of the chamber. She said at the time of her resignation that she could no longer work for the chamber knowing that some members of the board wished to hire an executive director who would be over her in the chamber office where she had served as secretary-manager for the past two and one half years.

Mrs. McComiskey's first attempt to resign at the April 8 board meeting was unsuccessful when a majority of the board members tabled the matter asking that she reconsider. The resignation was accepted, however, at a meeting of the executive board April 16.

Chamber president Perry Gibson said Monday that eight applications had been received for the position, six from local residents and two from out of town. Applicants were interviewed by members of the executive board, which includes Gibson, Mrs. Anita Lamb, Harmon Turan, Nicholas Haas and Fred Logan, yesterday and today and will be presented to the full board membership for review tonight.

"I hope that we will be able to make a decision tonight," said Gibson, "but we want to give this very careful thought, and I don't want to be committed to an immediate decision."

The man who was approached last month with the offer of a position as executive director, Randolph Bourgeois, is one of the applicants for the job. He is a retired military man and the cousin of board member E. J. Marengo. Bourgeois was approached with the idea of applying for executive director last month by Marengo and board member Nicholas Haas.

Haas said at the April 8 board meeting that he had spoken to Bourgeois about working in the office with Mrs. McComiskey, but not as her superior. He said that he only suggested that board members consider the matter and had not made any offer to Bourgeois.

successful in gas and oil yields.

Einar Falck, vice chairman of the board of Saga-Olsen, said that Saga decided to invest capital into American oil ventures after the Norwegian government adopted a "go-slow" policy for exploration in the North Sea.

Member concerns of the Saga Petroleum A.S. & Co., represent about 50 percent of Norway's export industry, two-thirds of the country's shipping interests and 10 percent of the world's tanker fleet.

One of the complaints Mrs. McComiskey had at the time of her resignation was that, according to her, some board members had expressed a desire to have a man in the top chamber position. Shortly after submitting her resignation to the board, Mrs. McComiskey said that she did not want to be a "babysitter" for the chamber until a man could be hired to run it. At present, three of the applicants for her position are women.

"I think that the right woman can do equally as good a job as a man," said executive board member, Mrs. Anita Lamb. "It just depends on the individual, sex does not enter into it at all."

Chamber president Perry Gibson said that the salary of the manager position would remain the same, but Gibson said "the duties cannot be exactly the same because the program will have to be put together by the president and the manager."

"We will tailor the program to fit the budget, the needs of the community and the people involved," Gibson said.

A simple majority vote of the board of directors is required to hire the new manager under chamber bylaws, but members will strive for a unanimous choice said retiring manager Mrs. McComiskey.

"The aim, of course, is to choose a person that all of the board members will be satisfied with," she said, "so that the board will be able to work together from the beginning on projects for the community."

Naval oceanographic report views NSTL move negatively

Officials of National Space Technologies Laboratories (NSTL) have promised a rebuttal of a National Oceanographic Office environmental impact study which describes Hancock County as a less than ideal site for the relocation of approximately 1,300 Naval and civilian employees. A spokesman said a public hearing had been set for 7:30 p.m. May 8 at NSTL.

The impact study says that although the technical facilities at NSTL are adequate, many employees, particularly the black employees who make up 14 percent of the work force will not want to transfer to the area because of living conditions in the surrounding communities.

A six member team representing the Navy employees visited NSTL and several Gulf Coast Communities April 22 to make a first hand evaluation of the living conditions of the area which will be evaluated along with the impact statement in the final decision. The report of their recent visit is not yet available, however.

Among the negative factors listed in the impact statement is that the move may create a "culture shock" for both local residents and Navy employees and their families.

"One potential effect of the proposed move is to relocate a sizeable 'urbanized upper middle class' in a predominantly rural area, with the exception of Slidell, La., the report says. "Some cultural shock is possible for both local residents and Navy employees and their families. The degree to which this will occur depends to some extent on the settlement pattern of the new personnel, the number of NASA employees originally from areas outside the deep south, and the early background of the Navy employees and their families."

Local officials have reacted strongly to statements made in the NOO study. Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver said a cultural shock is expected any time a large number of people are moved to a new area, and that the change could be considered good as well as bad.

beat on a county wide vote.

"Dolph is probably one of the strongest candidates around," Johnson said.

The young candidate, who ran unopposed in his first bid for reelection to a full term of office in the November general elections, said he had picked up some "good support" during the last week.

"I feel very, very confident I can beat the man," he said.

Johnson said one of the first things he intended to do next week was to check ballot records from the last county election.

Johnson said he felt there were probably 1800 votes cast for the Beat Two seat in the last county election with approximately 1200 of those votes coming from Waveland and the rest cast throughout the remainder of the county.

Land Co., Inc., a company which Haas had incorporated the previous year.

The loan money was then used to construct Century Plaza on Courthouse Road in Gulfport, the indictment says.

The government claims that Haas, Snyder and Olsen "directly or indirectly" received the benefits of $94,500 drawn on the account of Security Savings and Loan. The money was issued by a check made payable to Haas and Haas (attorneys at law) on Oct. 9, 1972.

The indictment also charges Haas of making false statements to federal authorities in 1973 about the loans in stating that no loans had been made to association personnel.

Johnson said he felt his opponent Kellar would have been too difficult to arraigned on the charges later this month before U.S. District Judge Harold Cox. Both Snyder and Olsen pleaded innocent to the charges earlier this month.

Nicholas M. Haas, brother of the former president, was named an unindicted co-conspirator along with five other men, Frank E. Webb, Jr., Dr. James A. Price, Jack E. Creaghe, Frank E. Pike and B. G. Quinnelly.

The report by the grand jury charges that Haas, Olsen and Snyder defrauded the loan company by misapplying for loans in excessive amounts to various individuals and corporations controlled by the defendants.

It cited a loan approved by Haas for $175,000 in October of 1972 to Century

Haas charged in Security Swindle

A federal grand jury in Jackson Friday charged former Security Savings and Loan Association president, J. Norton Haas, Jr. of Bay St. Louis, with making fraudulent loans to corporations in which he held partial interest.

The indictment charges Haas and two other men, Harry Olsen Jr. and William V. Snyder conspired to unlawfully divert funds from the savings and loan company which "they used for their own personal gain," the grand jury said.

Haas was released Friday morning after posting a $5,000 bond with a U.S. magistrate in Jackson.

The former president of the Bay St. Louis Savings and Loan Company will be

Hancock race draws Waveland's mayor pro tem

Waveland mayor pro tem Charles Johnson surprised political observers here Wednesday by throwing his hat into the Hancock County supervisor's race.

Johnson, a virtual political newcomer to Hancock County politics, announced he would run against Beat Two incumbent and board president Dolph Kellar in the August Democratic primary. Johnson has served less than one year on the Waveland Board of Aldermen where he was recently elected mayor pro tem by the rest of the board.

The 41-year-old Johnson indicated Wednesday that a primary factor in his decision to run against Kellar in August was the recent district court ruling which threw Hancock County elections back to a beat system.

"I have been giving consideration to running for a long time," the Waveland general contractor said Wednesday, "but I was thinking more in terms of four years from now until this recent court ruling."

Search begun for black gold in Pearl River's Pistol Ridge

A spokesman for the Saga Petroleum Company said Wednesday that the Norwegian company had begun oil drilling in Pearl River County near Lumberton Monday.

It thus becomes the second well begun by the Norwegian oil interests since an announcement Feb. 21 that Norway's largest conglomerates, Saga Petroleum and Fred Olsen Inc., would spend in excess of $22 million in search of oil and natural gas in eight South Mississippi counties.

The first joint venture well was spudded Feb. 10 in the Grand Bay area of Mobile County.

The spokesman confirmed that the Pearl River drilling would be done at the site of a former gas field known as Pistol Ridge, an area approximately 8 miles southwest of Lumberton and a site of earlier speculation.

The spokesman added that drilling was still continuing at the Grand Bay well in Mobile County, according to schedule.

Ed Seabourn, operation manager for Saga, announced February that Saga's immediate plans were to drill three wells in Mississippi along with the one in Alabama.

The exploration and drilling program will be conducted on approximately 425,000 acres of leased land in Forest, George, Green, Stone, Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River, and Jackson Counties in Mississippi.

The leases represent three years of acquisition by Alex W. McCoy Associates Inc. of Tulsa, Okla. in association with Gulf States Utilities of Beaumont, Texas, the Public Service Company of Tulsa, Okla., and Davis Brothers of Tulsa.

The McCoy group of lease land extends approximately 100 miles by 50 miles from the Pearl River and Hancock County boundaries with Louisiana to Mobile Bay and includes approximately 50,000 to 75,000 acres in Hancock County.

Florida youth being held for drug possession

A 22-year-old Florida youth was arrested here Tuesday with what authorities estimated to be around 100 pounds of marijuana.

The youth, Jerry C. Peters, who gave Panama City, Fla. as his address, was being held in Hancock County Jail Wednesday in lieu of $15,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lee Klein.

Authorities said Peters was being charged with possession with intent to deliver or sell, possession of a concealed weapon, and speeding.

Chief Deputy Lathan Garriga said Peters was stopped Tuesday afternoon on Interstate 10 by Mississippi Highway Patrol officers Herschel Ladner and Mike Cox for a speeding violation.

The officers reportedly found a 9 millimeter automatic pistol and a .38 revolver in the car along with the marijuana.

A hearing has been set for May 7.

HORATIO FRIERSON

Frierson enters Beat 2 JP race

Horatio "Junior" Frierson has announced that he will be a candidate for Justice of the Peace from Beat Two in the August Democratic primary.

Frierson, 50, is a native of Hancock County and is employed as a timber buyer for Wood Treating, Inc. He is a graduate of Picayune High School and a veteran of WWII. He has previously served as a constable from Beat Two and a Hancock County deputy sheriff. He and his wife, Barbara, live in Bienville Community.

Lillian Carver -- her permanent darkness is no handicap

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

A world of darkness is no handicap when brightened by 29 years of good friends says Mrs. Lillian D. Carver, manager of the concession stand in the Hancock County Courthouse.

Everyone knows that Mrs. Carver is blind, perhaps because of the dark glasses and her seeing-eye dog, Ona, but without these props it would be impossible to tell from the ease with which she serves each customer. "I don't feel handicapped at all," said Mrs. Carver. "I guess I'm too stupid to know what I'm missing, but in a lot of ways I feel like I am better off than a lot of other people." In a way, Mrs. Carver does know what she is missing, because she has not always been blind. She lost her sight while still a young woman living in New Orleans after a baseball injury caused cataracts to develop after 10 years.

"They didn't know too much about cataracts then," she said. "I had surgery two times, but I completely lost my sight in my right eye. I can still see light and shadow though so I can sometimes make out the shapes of things."

In her home and in the familiar concession stand Mrs. Carver moves as effortlessly as a sighted person with the exception of a few brief touches to the wall or other familiar objects. Unfamiliar places don't worry her either, she said, especially with the help of Ona, her fourth seeing-eye dog. Mrs. Carver got Ona and all her other dogs from the Mississippi Rehabilitation Center where they are trained.

"Ona and I go everywhere," Mrs. Carver said. "I used to walk from my house to the courthouse with some of my other dogs. It was easy once we knew the way."

In spite of the disability which developed early in her life Mrs. Carver has made many worthwhile contributions. Born Christmas Day, 1899, "just a week older than the century," Mrs. Carver states proudly she has not allowed her disability to stop her from doing almost anything people with sight can do. She mastered a typewriter and a sewing machine and does all her own housework, and during World War II she did war work at the Jackson Rehabilitation Center for the Blind.

"I used to think that I would like to be a journalist," Mrs. Carver said, "and I even did start to write a book at one time. I used to write a lot just to pass the time."

Mrs. Carver has not allowed her handicap to keep her from traveling, either, including New York and other large cities.

"I travel everywhere by myself," she said. "I love sports and I listen to baseball games all the time on the radio. I once decided to go to the Astrodome and I'm planning to try to go again real soon."

Adjusting to a new world of darkness could not be easy, Mrs. Carver said that she was able to learn many skills by returning to school after losing her sight.

She attended the School for the Blind in Baton Rouge and took a few courses at Louisiana State University before returning to Bay St. Louis to help her sick mother.

"I guess that it's just by the grace of God that I can do the things I do," she said. "After my mother died, I lived with my brothers for a while, and then my younger brother died and my other brother got married, so I was all alone. But I have been able to do everything for myself without any help."

It was in 1946 that Mrs. Carver established the familiar concession stand in the courthouse through the Mississippi Rehabilitation Center. For the past 29 years she has run the service and adds she has made many friends here. Only last week Mrs. Carver's entrepreneurial achievements were recognized at the annual conference of Business Enterprise Operators in Jackson where she was awarded the Homer Brewer Memorial.

"I have really enjoyed the years I have spent at the courthouse," she said. "I have met so many people here and everyone there has been more than just nice to me, they have been friends too."

One of the special friends that Mrs. Carver has made at the courthouse is jazz musician Pete Fountain, who owns a home near her residence on Thomas Street.

"I really enjoy his music," she said, "and one day he came in the courthouse, and stopped at the stand. I told him that I was having trouble finding one of his albums, and the first thing I knew, he sent someone over to my house with the album for me. Now he stops to talk whenever he is here."

Mrs. Carver can be justifiably proud of her 29 years at the courthouse. Her friends are legion - her face as perennial as taxes.

"I don't feel handicapped because my friends here don't treat me like that, they treat me just like anybody else."

Serving her public

A coke and a little friendly conversation for a worker at the courthouse are part of a day's work for Mrs. Lillian Carver, whose handicap has not prevented her from serving the community and making many friends.

Familiar steps

Rehabilitation Center. She is accompanied by Ona, her seeing-eye dog and ever present companion.

Students petition Lott on islands issue

By DAVID PIERSON

Coast Episcopal High School students Monday sent a petition to U. S. Representative Trent Lott protesting his stand against total wilderness designation for Horn and Petit Bois islands, the last two undeveloped islands in the Gulf Islands National Seashore.

The petition, bearing 140 signatures, says: "It was evident at the public hearing that the majority of your (Lott's) constituents are for the (Citizens) wilderness Proposal, and as an elected official, it is your responsibility to represent the public and its views."

The petition goes on to read: "There are many resorts and parks for recreation already established, but there is little area open for the preservation of wildlife. Encouraging people to alter the environment would seriously harm the habitat necessary to native birds and animals, therefore threatening their existence."

The Coast Episcopal students became involved in the issue when several of them attended the December 2 National Park Service public hearing and spoke in favor of total wilderness.

The National Park Service, which is in charge of the islands, recommended at the hearing all but 530 acres of the two islands' 5,300 acres be classified as wilderness. The remaining acreage was to be used for boat docks, camp sites, and cross-island trails. Environmentalists, however, charged at the public forum that any development on the islands would endanger the wildlife, some of which is classified as belonging to endangered species. In fact, a large majority of the more than 200 persons testifying at the public hearing said that they favored total wilderness designation.

Trent Lott, in a letter to the public hearing, said that he did not want to see the islands commercialized but that he did want to see the islands made more accessible to the general public. In a January visit to Pass Christian, Lott told the Echo that he had met with officials of the National Park Service and recommended that they extend the amount of acreage to be designated as wilderness, but, he said, he did not endorse the total wilderness plan. Lott later described himself as "being between total wilderness designation and partial development of the islands."

The National Park Service's final recommendation to Secretary of the Interior, Rogers Morton, and eventually to President Gerald Ford and Congress is confidential, but the park service is known to want to extend the amount of acreage to be designated as wilderness without endorsing the Citizens' Wilderness Proposal.

Paul Swartz, chief of the regional division of cooperative activities for the park service said that "The very general input from the public showed a desire for more wilderness designation on Horn and Petit Bois."

When asked if the park service would recommend the total wilderness plan, Swartz said, "No we did not endorse the citizens' proposal."

The American Cancer Society and the Harrison County Health Department are sponsoring a Pap test clinic during the month of May.

Women who wish to participate in this program may call the American Cancer Society for a Pap Pass which will allow them to get a Pap test at no charge.

"The Pap test is a simple, painless test useful in detecting cancer in the earliest stages," says Mrs. John Charlton, Chairman of the Breast and Uterine Education Program of the American Cancer Society. "Every woman over the age of 18 should have a Pap test at least once a year," added Mrs. Charlton.

The schedule for the clinics is: Pass Christian Health Center - May 1, 15 and 29 from 7-9 p.m. North Gulfport Health Department - May 3, 10, 17 and 31 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

FIP JOHNSON ANNOUNCES

I want to take this means to announce my candidacy for State Highway Commissioner, Southern District, August 5, 1975. First I want to thank all the people who voted and helped me four years ago. I got a very fine vote and I want you all to know I am grateful for it. You and I know that to run a campaign you have to have funds. I want to do something different to raise funds. I don't want any large company moneys, I turned down plenty four years ago. Here is what I would like you, the people who want good government to do - I play country and western music and I have cut some new single records that sell for $1.00 per record plus 25 cents mailing cost. If you want to help me this way, just send check, money order or cash to:

CAMPAIGN HEADQUARTERS

BAY ST. LOUIS, MS. 39520

I sometimes may take two weeks to get your records, if we are out when your order comes in, as we have to wait on the company that presses my records to ship them.

If elected, I will not have any strings tied to me. I will be everybody's Commissioner. The time has come to wake up and elect people who will think people, not just a few.

Stennis urges Ford's approval of farm bill

WASHINGTON, D. C. Attempting to stave off an anticipated Presidential veto of the Farm Bill, Senator John C. Stennis urged approval in letters to President Ford and Secretary of Agriculture Butz.

"The intent of the Farm Bill, as you know, is to adjust target prices and loan levels for cotton as well as wheat and feed grains," he told Butz. "If it is your intention to accomplish administratively the loan level adjustments set forth in the legislation on emergency price supports for 1975 crops, and to use this action as justification for a veto, then I believe that you should address clearly the question of whether or not you are precluded from administrative adjustments of loan levels for cotton."

Stennis charged that the administrative remedies that have been proposed by the Secretary in lieu of the Farm Bill are "Totally inadequate so far as cotton is concerned."

Stennis said he has been informed that any administrative adjustments for the unrealistically low level of cotton loans are specifically precluded because they are statistically computed on the three year world market average price of cotton. Stennis reminded both the President and Secretary Butz that administrative remedies could not accomplish the objectives of the Farm Bill as passed by Congress.

International clarifies shuffle

Company officials for International Demolition & Salvage Co. said this week that statements released earlier concerning president A. J. Scardino's separation from the company had been misconstrued.

It was reported that Scardino had been fired from the company after a turnover in top level personnel at the Bienville operations.

New plant manager Ernest Mitchell stated this week, however, that Scardino had simply left the company.

Essay winners

The Long Beach Civitan vice-president Odie Simmons recently presented the club's three essay winners with checks of $75, $50 and $25 for papers on the subject of "Helping others—Every person's responsibility."

Waller reports Mid-East success

Governor Bill Waller reported from Baghdad last week that Mississippi's trade mission to the Mid-East may produce $100 million in sales of Mississippi products and technology.

The Mississippi trade mission is the first U. S. sponsored trade mission to visit the oil-rich mid-eastern nations. A spokesman for the mission said the reaction has been so outstanding that the Iranian Chamber of Commerce is proposing to sponsor an Iranian trade mission to Mississippi to follow up on the contacts made during the Mississippians' visit.

The Governor's Mansion restoration project has received a check for $4,000 from the Mississippi Federated Women's Club members to pay for the Gazebo planned for the Mansion's formal garden.

Mrs. Robert F. Powers of Greenwood, President of the group, presented the check to First Lady Carroll Waller as matching funds for a Bicentennial grant.

Mrs. Waller presented a program of the restoration plans for the Mansion and discussed efforts to have the historic Mansion designated as a National Historic Landmark.

The State Park Commission announced this week that a total of $523,462 in new contracts have been approved by the Building Commission for Phase I development of the Living Historical Farm located near Greenwood. The new construction is scheduled to begin immediately.

Burnett and Sons, a Batesville construction firm, received the contract for development of the Plantation buildings with a low bid of $293,600 and 300 calendar days will be allowed for the completion of the new construction.

Additionally, a contract for the development of a main-tenance building also went to Burnett and Sons for the low bid of $27,900. Completion of this new facility is to be within 180 calendar days.

PROCLAMATION

It is especially fitting on the occasion of the dual observances this year of LAW DAY USA on May 1, and our nation's Bicentennial celebrations in 1975 and 1976, that every citizen reflect on the role of the rule of law in safeguarding individual rights.

This year will mark the 18th annual nationwide observance of LAW DAY. The theme selected in recognition of this important event is:

AMERICA'S GOAL: JUSTICE THROUGH LAW

Equal justice under law has been an American goal ever since Alexander Hamilton wrote 192 years ago that an independent judicial system is "the best expedient which can be devised to secure a steady, upright and impartial administration of the law."

We must all support and participate in the operations of government to insure the achievement of this goal for every American in all areas of social concern.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John Longo, Jr., Mayor of Waveland, Mississippi, do hereby proclaim Thursday, May 1, 1975, as LAW DAY USA in Waveland, Mississippi, and urge all the citizens of this community to recognize this special day and to join in its observance through court visitations and by attending bar association-sponsored LAW DAY programs.

WITNESS my signature this the 1st day of May, 1975.

JOHN LONGO, JR.
MAYOR

America--199 years strong

Loyalty Day, observed on May 1 of each year, was designated by an Act of Congress in 1958. Each year our President issues a Loyalty Day Proclamation in which he implores all of us to ponder the inalienable allegiance which each of us owes to America.

Loyalty Day calls for vigorous action by all concerned citizens to insure that all countries are fully aware of the basic fact that we are united in our love for our way of life and in our determination to remain forever a strong, free and sovereign nation.

Loyalty Day was designed to encourage Americans to speak out about patriotism. Each year, this special day attracts millions of people who participate in parades and programs across the land and many millions more who view these activities.

Loyalty Day was originated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States to counteract the Communist movement in this country. The V.F.W. won a long battle to have Loyalty Day approved by Congress in 1958. However, this day belongs to all Americans. Therefore, every citizen should eagerly participate in the festivities in an effort to make this Loyalty Day the greatest observance ever held.

We celebrate Loyalty Day to remind ourselves, other Americans and the rest of the world that nothing can take the place of loyalty to one's country.

We must pledge ourselves to maintain a free society in which loyalty is always respected and fully encouraged. For without loyalty, the United States cannot long survive and the flame of freedom, held so proudly aloft by "Miss Liberty", will diminish and fade forever.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

Two weeks ago the editorial page of the Sea Coast Echo offered a fine example of what a small-town newspaper is all about. It printed, among others, three short pieces which illustrated perfectly the inane nature of the average human being.

The first was a "Guest Editorial" on the recent appointment of Dr. William Jaquitt as head of the mental hospital at Whitfield, MS., and why the facility always was so crowded. We have ten hospitals now in operation and five more soon to be ready, the good doctor explained, yet they are so unknown that people drive right past Whitfield without knowing it's there. We don't know if this makes any sense, but if anyone is looking for a mental hospital, maybe they could find out just by asking their doctor!

Next was a letter from a citizen commending the activity of police in patrolling local roads and cutting down on speeding and careless driving. The patrolmen, says the writer, seem to have taken more interest "through their pride for their city." This too looks like doubtful reasoning, for a patrolman's job is to enforce the law, whether he likes his city or not!

The third item is a letter from our representative, Congressman Trent Lott. In it, he chides the Congress for spending many thousands of dollars on projects which call for action by Dr. Jaquitt and his mental hospital at Whitfield.

Representative Lott cites a $70,000 study of why Australian aborigines have a strong body odor, a 2½ million inquiry into the sex life of crabs, and a $121,000 study to find out why people say "ain't." These inquiries actually were authorized, made and paid for by the U.S. Congress at a time when lots of people actually were going hungry and our country's deficit was climbing to a hundred billion dollars. Mr. Lott comments that "these projects are going on day after day with little or no official objections...and that everyone seems to complain about it, but no one has ever done anything about it."

Due to the current money situation you may have had to put off buying a new vacuum cleaner or a business suit of clothes, but HEW has awarded a "sizeable grant" to the study of Why Children Fall Off Tricycles. Other departments have spent considerable cash money on studies of Frisbees, Blood Groups of Polish Pigs, Lizards in Yugoslavia, Rare Moss in Burma, a Dictionary of Witchcraft...can you believe it?—a grant to the city of Los Angeles for Travelers Aid to people "lost on the Freeway!"

By the way, why doesn't Mr. Lott do something about these silly grants? He's a Congressman, too!

Bygone Days

5 YEARS AGO

April 30, 1970—Dedication ceremonies were conducted Sunday afternoon at the new Gulf Central airport-Stennis Field in Hancock County. The lengthy afternoon event featured keynote speaker Lt. Governor Charles L. Sullivan, who was also on the original ground-breaking ceremonies in 1968.

10 YEARS AGO

April 29, 1965—An all out manhunt by officers from Hancock and Harrison Counties resulted in speedy arrests of two in the first jailbreak here in approximately 10 years. The pair, Robert Clark, 28, of Clermont Harbor and New Orleans, serving one year for assault with a deadly weapon and Melvin William Jones, alias John T. Ridgeway, 23, awaiting action on forgery charges, fled from jail about 8 p.m. Friday.

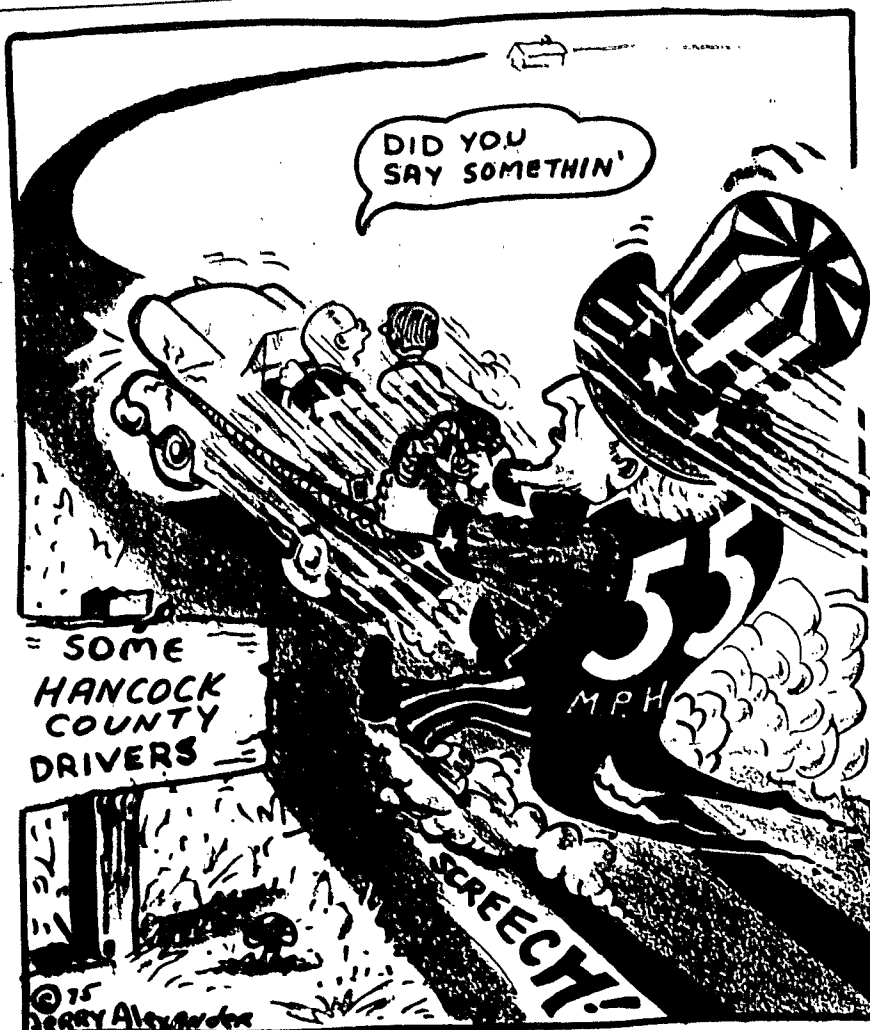

50 YEARS AGO

May 2, 1925—The present unprecedented activity in Bay St. Louis really values, in line with the balance of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, is a condition due to belated arrival. Knowing ones, versed in such matters and well acquainted with local conditions, say such values should have obtained more than 10 years ago. However, the coming of the Mississippi Power Co., the coming to the coast of the Illinois Central R.R. Co., with its direct line from Chicago and the balance of the Middle West, the building of the $2,000,000 sea wall and bridges connecting the three coast counties as one, and other gigantic moves and enterprises, all serve to better accentuate the present condition and values. President Markham says he will make a second Florida of the Mississippi Coast.

75 YEARS AGO

May 5, 1900—Waveland's Board of School Trustees met this week and elected Mr. John Hines chairman and Mr. Edwin L. Laizer, secretary. It was decided to repair the town school and build a separate school building for colored children.

HARD OF HEARING

Our Readers Write

Open letter to the Honorable Trent Lott, U. S. House of Representatives

As residents of the Gulf Coast and your constituents, we the students of Coast Episcopal High School were distressed when we heard your stand against the Citizens' Wilderness Proposal. It was evident at the public hearing that the majority of your constituents are for the Wilderness Proposal; and as an elected official, it is your responsibility to represent the public and its views.

Also, please consider citizens of the future. There are many resorts and parks for recreation already established, but there is little area open for preservation of wild life. Encouraging people to alter the environment would seriously harm the habitat necessary to native birds and animals, therefore, threatening their existence.

We are deeply concerned and hope you will take our opinion into account. We enclose a petition signed by the students and teachers of Coast Episcopal. Our school consists of 140 students.

Yours truly,

Concerned Students

Editor, Sea Coast Echo

I am enclosing one of the copies, received in reply to the five xerox and one handwritten letter I mailed to the Dept. of Justice, Drug Administration in Washington, D. C. Several signatures of patients, I knew were taking Valium or Librium, were enclosed.

Last week, when I went to Pharmacy to have a Valium refill, the druggist was short of supply; he let me have five, saying he "expected more in a few days." This has never occurred before, so I assume there must have been a run on the sale of Valium. These people should be writing the Dept. of Justice, instead of stacking up a big supply of pills. Avalanche of opposition letters, could cause a repeal of this obnoxious new Rule. As it now stands, the enforcement, I've been informed, will take effect, by the first of July. Would you mind printing the enclosed letter, I received from the Drug Administration. It may awaken more patients to write; as more letters to Washington, may invoke repeal. We who deny ourselves the sorely needed medications, because of the high cost of these drugs, have to be punished, to protect the weaklings, who indulge in drug abuse. It isn't just or fair.

Thanking you kindly,
Mrs. Eleanor E. McFie

Our politics in Hancock County. Going forwards or backwards? It seems to us that we are going backwards, since the decision by Judge Cox to throw our supervisors election back to the Beat system instead of County wide. Every taxpayer in Hancock County contributes to the salaries of every County employee and upkeep of our County so why can't every qualified voter, taxpayer be allowed to vote for all supervisors? Why wait until after the election on a Beat system to appeal to the Court on its decision? The appeal docket may be loaded but if the appeal is never filed it will never come up on the docket. Why wait until the horse is out to close the stable door?

Another question. Why are the voters in a municipal school district not allowed to vote for our County Superintendent of Education? We do believe that we pay taxes to the County school system as well as municipal. Don't we attribute to the County Superintendent's salary and remodeling of County schools and their upkeep? Sure we do, so why can't we vote for the office?

We also feel that we should vote for our Bay St. Louis Municipal Superintendent of Education. This position has been in the hands of a few people long enough. Let's call for a change in our city system also. Let's call for a chance to vote for our City Superintendent too. If in the voters opinion the person in this position does not do a good job for us, we can vote him out and look for a

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

AFTER VIETNAM, WHAT?

For all practical purposes, this nation's involvement in Southeast Asia is ended.

Along with 186 colleagues in the House, I voted last week against further aid and troop involvement. Contrary to what some people think, I don't feel as though I turned my back on our friends in that war-torn country.

I voted against further aid because of my concern that humanitarian aid would not actually reach those who need it. Even worse, it might benefit the North Vietnamese.

Most important, however, is the theory that we should not open the door for recommitment of American troops in that country. I think we should remove all Americans immediately so that there is no necessity for risking additional lives.

In addition, if those who cry for more aid would slow down long enough to look at what is still on hand in South Vietnam, they would find: 100,000 tons of rice (which happens to be enough to provide one million refugees with 500 grams of rice per day for six months); 13,700 tons of blended fortified food for maternal and child care; 670,000 doses of vaccines for measles, small pox, cholera, and typhoid; and untold amounts of shelter materials and other humanitarian supplies.

Those who say we abandoned the South Vietnamese would do well to remember that our policy was always one of support. No one in their right mind can say that we failed to support them.

The question which must be answered now is: "After Vietnam, what?" How the world views us will depend in large measure on how we view ourselves, and especially what role we are willing to play in the international arena.

Do we still believe that communism is the primary threat to the free world? The answer -- based on the evidence -- must be "yes."

The Soviet Union and Red China continue to build their machines of war. Both nations, beyond any question in anybody's mind, have continued to supply arms and equipment to the North Vietnamese Communists, the South Vietnamese Communists, and the Cambodian Communists in direct and flagrant violation of the Paris Peace Accords.

And they have supplied this material in a considerably higher ratio than the agreed upon one-for-one replacement.

The Russians continue to delay and restrict any rational discussion of mutual and balanced force reductions in Europe. Likewise, they maneuver within the restraints of the SALT agreements in a manner which displays no real interest in lessening armaments in this area.

And both Russia and China have used the words of detente as a smoke screen. They speak in flowery phrases of its mutual advantages, yet only those two nations have really gained from it.

So what has changed, that we could possibly see these two nations as anything but highly dangerous and threatening adversaries?

The answer is nothing. Nothing at all has changed.

So the next question, logically, is: "What will this nation's position be after Vietnam?" It seems to me that we have three alternatives.

We can begin to dismantle our military forces, and attempt to develop a trading economy, based on the hope of goodwill among all nations. We can retreat to a "Fortress America" and prepare for an ultimate last-ditch effort on our beaches.

The first of these is unrealistic to anyone who reads the world news. And the second is impossible, given the nuclear arsenal maintained by Russia.

So this leaves us with a third alternative. We can take a good, hard look at what happened and make a solemn pledge to ourselves and each other, that it will not happen again.

We know, and have known for sometime, that America cannot be the world's policeman. Our resources are vast, but they are not limitless, and we should feel no obligation to any nation which will not fight to protect its own national integrity.

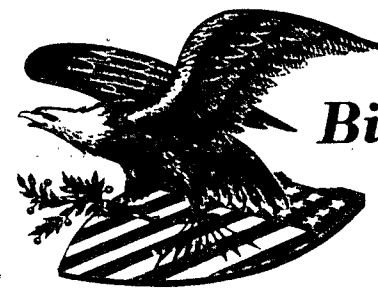

We can -- and must -- adopt a realistic perception of our role in the world. Despite a string of recent reverses all over the globe, we remain the last hope of freedom.

One by one, the nations of Western Europe have lost the capability to effect change in the world. And with abandonment of an international role has come an internal stagnation.

I do not believe this is the course most Americans will want to take in the future. Certainly, we must look at our commitments and determine which are in the best interest of our national sovereignty.

But we cannot afford -- again in the best interests of ourselves -- to let the experience in Southeast Asia paralyze us. The next step from that approach would be to cower and then surrender.

We can safely abandon our role of Rich Uncle in the world -- but only if we are willing to assume our share of responsibility in the family of free people.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

Oswald M. Smith, Jr., president of the Colonial Patriots Chapter, Mississippi Society Sons of the American Revolution, has announced an exhibit will be held May 31 at Keeler Air Force Base between the hours of noon and 4 p.m.

The 3403d Squadron sponsors the exhibit and is planning a display of Revolutionary artifacts and memorabilia. The booth will be located next to the information center and will have a back board for display of quilts, pictures and larger objects. A Colonial spinning wheel will be in operation. As an added attraction ladies attired in Colonial gowns will serve as hostesses.

Retired officers will be recognized at this time by General Byron Shotts. Beautiful activists in our Hancock County area include Mrs. Harris Boudreaux who recently visited the historic old Pearlington cemetery with a view to planning restorations and improvements. According to her report, there is need for a general cleaning and correction of drainage problems. Mrs. Boudreaux will be assisted by several interested persons who also plan decorations for memorial day.

Most worthy of mention is the full life of service to Hancock County being given by Mrs. Jeanne Williams now 83 years young. Mrs. Williams' teaching career started in 1912 and continued until 1958 in Hancock County public schools, followed by a year in the St. Joseph's Convent. She retired and served as a substitute teacher, and now helps children through the RSVP Program if they need a bit of coaching! Mrs. Williams' hobby -- that of keeping scrap books of activities within the school system serves as a guide for the History of the Public School System which she is currently preparing for the Hancock County Historical Society.

Mrs. Joseph Crawford of Slidell, knowledgeable on many subjects, has a treasure-trove of information regarding the old Colonial Town of Pearlington. She is in the process of recording the history of Pearlington's cemetery.

Mrs. Emma Hursey also of Slidell and formerly of Pearlington-Logtown area has promised to compile a paper about the logging industry and the important role it played in the development of Hancock County.

A report from Secretary of State Heber Laddner states the Governor's Mansion in Jackson, now in the process of being restored and refurbished, is very nearly ready for Open House -- possibly the first week in June. Suggestion: Why not plan a family outing that will include our beautiful Capitol Building and the restored Mansion?

Brother Pierre, co-ordinator of the Bay-Waveland Hancock County Bicentennial Committee, has called a meeting of that group for May 7. A full report on that group's activities will appear in next week's Echo.

County Agent's Notes

CALFHOOD VACCINATION

Every heifer to be used as a replacement in any beef or dairy herd in Mississippi should be vaccinated against brucellosis this year.

Brucellosis, also known as Bang's disease, is a serious economic problem. It is costly since it results in aborted calves, non-breeding cows, and the selling of cows that are reactors for slaughter. The disease can also be transmitted to man.

The 100 percent vaccination goal must be reached if the state is to become brucellosis free. State Veterinarian Dr. Harvey McCrory says the vaccination program must be 100 percent for the next five years or more for the state to achieve its goal. The state legislature made few funds available to support the vaccination program so that heifer calves may be vaccinated at no cost to cattle owners.

Vaccinate calves as soon as possible after they reach three months of age. For help in scheduling your calves for vaccination, which must be done by a licensed veterinarian, check with this office, your practicing veterinarian or the state veterinarian's office.

SORGHUM PLANTING

Too high a seeding rate is a common problem when planting sorghum either for grain or for silage. Recommended rates are six to eight pounds of seed to the acre.

Time of application of fertilizer is critical. For highest yields adequate nitrogen must be available when heads form. Head formation takes place at about the six-leaf stage.

This means that nitrogen should be applied preplant, or the sorghum should be sidedressed at about the four-leaf stage or 20 to 25 days after emergence.

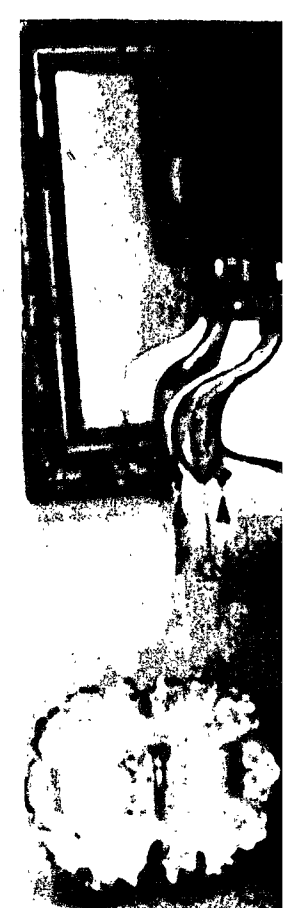

Sorghum also needs lime. Soils should have a pH of 5.8 or higher for good yields. The needed lime can be applied up until time of planting.

SOYBEAN CYST NEMATODES

The best and most convenient way to deal with soybean cyst nematodes is to plant the resistant varieties Forrest, Mack or Pickett 71.

These varieties will produce as much or more per acre than the non-resistant varieties of soybeans even on clean land. It is also cheaper to plant a resistant variety than it is to plant a susceptible variety and use a nematicide.

Lucky purchase becomes priceless antique collection

What every man needs

Reverend Paremore displays one of his novelty pieces, the mustache cup, which allowed a gentleman in the post Civil War days to drink without wetting his mustache. In the background is a tiffany lamp from the same period.

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

A collection which began with a lucky $5 purchase in a scrap metal shop over 20 years ago has grown into an antique collection encompassing furniture, china, lamps, clocks and watches owned by Rev. P. J. Paremore, pastor of the First Assembly of God church in Waveland.

Pieces in the Paremore collection cover various periods of American history from revolutionary times to the Civil War. Rev. and Mrs. Paremore have collected antiques at random from all parts of the United States for the past 25 years or more and restored most of the pieces themselves to use in their home.

"We started collecting about 1949 at a church convention in Seattle," said Paremore. "We wanted to bring back something more valuable than just souvenirs. But I guess we didn't really start collecting in earnest until we moved to Montgomery, Ala., where we lived in this large 150-year-old colonial mansion, and we started collecting furniture and other antique pieces to restore the house."

It was in 1953 in the colonial home in Montgomery that Rev. Paremore made his lucky find of a barrel full of antique timepieces in a scrap metal shop which he purchased for $5. Rev. Paremore now values his 75 piece watch collection the most of all his antiques.

The timepieces date back almost 200 years and are mainly of the key wind variety. Paremore repairs the watches himself from a collection of assorted parts and boasts that most of the watches in the collection are in perfect working order.

"The old key wind watches worked on a very ingenious method," he said. "They worked on a graduated pulley device called a fussee which kept a perfect tension as the watch wound down. The stem wind watches weren't made until about 1875, and when they did come out, they were such a novel thing that it became a popular expression to say a person was a real 'stem winder' if he always had the latest thing."

Rev. Paremore is also a collector of antique clocks and now owns between 20 and 30 clocks of all varieties from wall clocks to enormous grandfather clocks. Most of the clocks are also in working order or are in the process of being restored. One of the favorite grandfather clocks of the collection is unusable, however, the collector said, because of a gong loud enough to rattle the antique china in an adjacent cabinet.

"Buying is only half of an antique collection," the reverend said. "You have to be able to recognize value in a piece and be able to restore it to its former beauty."

The reverend and his wife spend many hours working on the restoration of antiques. Their successes include a Morris chair dating back to 1875 which was purchased for $6 and restored to its original beauty and usefulness. Other pieces in the Paremore household include an antique roll top desk and a rope bed that have been restored and put to use.

"When I first began collecting, I liked Victorian things the best," said the collector. "But since then I have switched to the early American furniture. It is so functional in design and it is still a serviceable piece."

Rev. Paremore pointed out the practicality of many of his early American pieces. A piano lamp, for example, could be raised and lowered to obtain the proper amount of light to play the piano.

Another piece, the mustache cup, is an ordinary cup with a ceramic strip above where a gentleman would place the cup to his lips to drink which would keep his mustache dry.

Mrs. Paremore claims the china collection as her special interest. The collection includes a set of onion skin china, intricately decorated plates used exclusively by the servants in the kitchens of prestigious American homes.

"We collect things for our own pleasure," said the reverend. "But sometimes we have had to part with some of the things when we move to a smaller house. I have thought about buying and selling antiques for profit, but of course, that takes much time. I do occasionally buy for other people, just as a favor, because I do know where to find good buys."

Rev. Paremore said that finding the good buys was no more than years of searching and making friends in the antique business. The couple spend their vacations travelling to many areas of the United States in a van in search of good antique buys.

"Until about seven years ago it wasn't too hard to find antiques that were quite reasonable," the reverend said. "It has been a little bit

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers began opening bays at Bonnet Carre April 14 to reduce Mississippi River levels above New Orleans.

A National Weather Service crest prediction of 18.7 feet at New Orleans would have put water over some port area levees in the city. Wind tides from the south could have easily raised river levels by another foot, Heiberg said.

NOO report views NASA, Hancock negatively

A final factor outlined in the Navy's report is the effect of the influx of the estimated 800 employees and their families on the local school system. The report states that the increase in the population would result in an approximate 10 percent increase in the public school system and would noticeably overburden the present system.

The report also noted some curriculum problems could result because the children of the Navy employees are more "culturally privileged" and would be more likely to want college preparatory courses rather than the present emphasis on vocational training. Hancock County officials have denied that the transfer of the Navy employees will cause a substantial disruptive effect to the lifestyle of local communities.

Perry Gibson, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce said that if the Navy did decide in favor of the transfer, only about 20 percent of the employees would choose to live in Hancock County. He estimated that at least 40 percent of the new employees would choose to live in Slidell, mainly because of its closeness to New Orleans.

"I think that this report is really a surface-type judgement," Gibson said, "and it cannot really be substantiated by facts. We have had large numbers of people move into this area before, such as when the test site first opened, without any major changes, and I am sure that the same thing would happen again if the Navy decided to come here."

Council on Aging receives additional funds

The Mississippi Council on Aging has received an additional $266,687 for the Nutrition Program, one of the important services for the state's elderly. This additional money will allow expansion into some areas not presently being served.

The Nutrition Program, now in its second year, provides an average of 2,400 noon meals, five days a week, to persons 60 years of age or older who probably would not eat adequately at home. Counseling, information and referral, nutrition education, shopping assistance, and recreation are additional services provided by the Nutrition Program.

VA broadens loan policies

New GI loan policies that apply to all veterans with military service since the start of World War II make more than 20 million veterans eligible for the Veterans Administration guaranteed home loans.

Among them are more than four million veterans whose GI loans have been paid in full, Assistant VA Center Director for Regional Office, Mervyn J. Cook said today.

Those who have never used their eligibility are still eligible even though they might have been out of service more than 30 years. Also potentially eligible for new loans are those veterans with current loans outstanding.

The only condition for restored eligibility is that the first loan be paid off and the home be disposed of.

In addition to broadened eligibility rules, new

JA sponsors full health program

A free health screening program will be provided from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. May 31st, at North Bay Elementary School for Hancock county citizens, sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary.

Tests and services, to be administered by professional personnel under the direction of a local physician, will include pap smear, blood sugar, hemoglobin, hematocrit, blood pressure, breast self-exams, and hearing exams.

Exhibits will also be available on basic nutrition, life saving techniques and drug abuse. "The basic principle of the health service is that early detection can lead to the control and the correction of a number of chronic illnesses," said project co-ordinator Mrs. Ames Kergosien. "At a time when physicians are heavily overburdened, large scale screening programs which can be staffed by skilled and trained allied health professionals can alleviate some of the heavy demands for health care on the physician."

USM offers teacher workshop

HATTIESBURG - A variety of workshops and conferences this summer at the University of Southern Mississippi will be offered to teachers working on advanced degrees.

Most courses may be used as credit on a master's degree and under the new state pay bill the attainment of a master's and in some instances work beyond that brings added salary, said Gene Tinnon, director of Conferences and workshops.

All workshops may be used for teacher certification. In addition they provide a special expertise in a specific field of knowledge.

The range of workshops is great, covering such aspects as drugs in society, a reading conference, recent interpretations in American history, and many others, said Tinnon.

"Another advantage of the offerings," he said, is that the teacher may work them into a vacation schedule; and may elect to accelerate academic progress by taking workshops during the day and regular courses at night."

New Orleans Symphony features concert pianist

Cuban-American piano virtuoso Jorge Bolet will be soloist with the New Orleans Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra at its final pair of subscription concerts for the 1974-75 season.

The concerts, at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 6 and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 7 in the New Orleans Theatre of the Performing Arts, will be conducted by Werner Torkanowsky. Bolet will perform Piano Concerto No. 3 by Sergei Rachmaninoff, and the balance of the program included the Sinfonia for Double Orchestra, Op. 18, No. 1, by Johann Christian Bach and Symphony No. 2 by Jan Sibelius.

Last season marked Jorge Bolet's 38th anniversary on the concert stage. Bolet began piano studies in his native Cuba at the age of six and became a student of David Saperton at the Curtis Institute of Music when he was 12. He graduated from Curtis with top honors in 1934 and three years later embarked on a career which has taken him to every music capital in the world. During the 1971-72 season, Bolet had the distinction of appearing as soloist with the New York Philharmonic 11 times. Bolet has performed with the New Orleans Symphony four times in the past. His first appearance here took place just over 30 years ago, in January of 1945. His last performance at a subscription concert was in January of 1950 and he performed with the New Orleans Symphony on tour in February of 1960. Tickets for the May 6 and 7 Symphony concerts are on sale at Werlein's Box Office, 605 Canal Street, and at the Symphony office, 203 Carondelet Street. Telephone reservations may be made by calling the Symphony at 524-0404, and any remaining tickets will go on sale at the Theatre of the Performing Arts Box Office one hour before each performance.

Any day now a major league ball player will score the one millionth run in the history of the game, and the real dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans are busy right now trying to figure out what player has the best chance to reach that milestone. Will it be the first black player-manager, Frank Robinson? Or will this mark also fall to the great Hank Aaron? Maybe a lesser-known player like Bob Boone or Dave Freisleben (Dave Freisleben?) will slide home under the catcher's tag with the one millionth run, and the umpires will stop the game and pull out home plate and rush it special delivery to the Hall of Fame along with the historic shoe that touched the plate.

I'm sure that not even Jimmy the Greek Snyder will post odds on this one, for all the oddsmakers and all of their computers can't possibly determine who it will be.

What they shouldn't have trouble figuring out, however, is that there is only one man in America who could have come up with this piece of baseball trivia, the one millionth run. Only one man could have been looking for this little-known and even less-important fact, and that man is the owner of the lowly San Diego Padres, Ray Kroc, who bought the team just last year.

Kroc is better known in business circles as the king of the fast-food industry — the owner of McDonald's Restaurants, the only restaurants with scoreboards that now read: "Over 15 billion hamburgers sold."

I just hope his one millionth run idea doesn't carry too far because I can foresee each team totalling all the runs scored in its ballpark and then proudly posting this on large signs. Imagine walking to Yankee Stadium and reading just over the entrance "Yankee Stadium: Over two million runs scored."

If this run-counting catches on, it will surely hurt the Chevrolet Corporation which has already spent huge sums of money to publicize the connection between baseball and hot dogs (not to mention apple pie) when the real kinship turns out to be baseball and hamburgers. Hot dogs were just along for the ride.

Congratulations to all the area high school netters who will advance to the state tennis tournament this weekend in Jackson. Among the district winners who will make the trip are Lis Lagarde of OLA and Bay High's doubles team of Sharon Kidd and Chris Stieffel.

Katherine Johnson and Holly Vegas of Coast Episcopal, upset the previously undefeated OLA team of Tricia Dickinson and Susan Benvenuti in the Class B-BB finals, also won district honors. Jamie Hans and the team of Perry and Paul Clinkscales, all of Coast Episcopal, won district titles in their classes.

Don Gaddy of Long Beach settled his personal score with St. Martin's Jim Cantrell to win the boys' A-AA singles title in the district tournament Friday in Biloxi.

All district runners-up will also travel to Jackson with hopes of claiming the state crown.

One interesting note about high school tennis this year: it seems the strongest girl players were on this end of the Coast, and the strongest boys were on the other end.

The OLA, Bay High, and Coast Episcopal girls dominated in their bracket, but it was a different story in the boys' bracket.

No one appears to have a satisfactory explanation for this except to say that these things "just happen in cycles."

Like many others, I watched with chagrin as George Foreman stumbled through his five televised bouts against mediocre heavyweights. To think that only a few months ago it was believed no one could stand in the ring with him.

His real fight, as it turned out, was not with any of the five fighters but with himself. If he can shake off the spectre of Ali, who taunted him throughout the fight, Foreman may be able to make a comeback.

A comeback at the age of 25? A rather sad circumstance for such a talented boxer.

Bert Jenkins, basketball coach of the state champion Gulfport Commodores, was one of those featured this week in the "Sports Illustrated" Faces in the Crowd section. Jenkins led his Commodores to a perfect 40-0 season in which his team scored over 100 points in 14 games.

BASEBALL QUIZ: What major league player holds the record for the highest official season batting average? Answer next time.

Answer to the last quiz — Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals holds the record for the most RBI's in one game, 12.

A baseline player

Lis Lagarde of OLA proved Friday that a baseline player can handle a strong net challenge. Anne Johnson of Coast Episcopal repeatedly charged the net in their district finals match but was unable to upset Miss Lagarde's steady play.

Area netters claim district titles

By DAVID PIERSON

Nine local high school tennis players won district titles Friday afternoon at Hiller Park in Biloxi, and seven other area netters will also travel to the state tournament this weekend as runners-up in District 8-A.

Lis Lagarde of OLA won the Class B-BB title by downing Coast Episcopal's Anne Johnson in straight sets 6-3, 6-4. Miss Johnson controlled the net throughout the match, but Miss Lagarde's baseline play prevented Miss Johnson from capitalizing on her position.

The final game of the match was typical of the play between the two players. Miss Johnson's aggressive net play was thwarted repeatedly by Miss Lagarde's lobs and passing shots.

In other tennis action, Coast Episcopal's girls' doubles team of Holly Vegas and Katherine Johnson defeated OLA's previously unbeaten team of Tricia Dickinson and Susan Benvenuti 4-6, 7-6, 6-4.

The OLA team appeared to have the match sewn up with three match points in hand in the second set, but Episcopal's team battled back to win the last three tiebreak points and send the match into a third set.

In the final set, OLA requested a line judge after several questionable line calls, but the Vegas-Johnson team reeled off three straight games to win the match.

Perry and Paul Clinkscales of Coast Episcopal easily brushed past their competition with a 6-1, 6-0 win in the finals, and Jamie Hans, also of Coast Episcopal, had almost as much ease in disposing of Notre Dame's Mark Lawson in straight sets 6-3, 6-1.

In A-AA team action, Bay High's top-seeded doubles team of Sharon Kidd and Chris Stieffel won three matches including a tough 7-6, 2-6, 7-5 final win over Renee Fleming and Robin Pace of Gulfport East.

Finally, Long Beach's Don Gaddy won the boys' singles title with a three-set win over St. Martin's Jim Cantrell, 6-7, 6-4, 6-2.

How THEY FARE

Mark Jenkins of Pass High and Tommy McKay of Long Beach lead the area players in hitting and pitching respectively. Jenkins raised his average 59 points over the past week to a solid .459 average. Two Stanislaus players, Mike Graeber and Monty Elchos, also raised their averages considerably over the past week to nail down the second and third place slots in hitting.

McKay reclaimed the pitching lead he had lost last week but in a Monday night game (which is not included in this week's statistics) he gave up several earned runs against district champion Moss Point. Donnie Bentz of Pass High moved into the second position among pitchers with a one-hit shutout over Bay High Thursday.

Long Beach loses on errors to St. Martin

The St. Martin Yellowjackets handed the Long Beach Bearcats their third straight district loss Saturday afternoon 4-1 in Long Beach. The Yellowjackets needed only five hits to go along with the six Bearcat errors to down the Long Beach nine.

Although the game extended the Bearcats' win drought, the first inning marked the end of a run-scoring drought for Long Beach. Bill Lansdale led off the bottom of the first for the Bearcats with a double, and Bob Richards singled him home. It was the first run the Bearcats had scored in 14 1-3 innings.

But it was downhill for the Bearcats after that. St. Martin used three infield errors, two singles, and a fielder's choice to push across three runs in the third inning, and Long Beach never recovered.

Miguel Lawrence (2-1) went the route for the Yellowjackets, fanning four and walking two. Tim Berry was charged with the loss for Long Beach. He gave up all four runs, struck out three, and allowed one base on balls.

Stone dumps Pirates in playoff, 3-2

By DAVID PIERSON
Catcher Don Ainsworth of Stone County grounded a single to center field scoring two runs and giving the Tomcats a 3-2 district playoff win over the Pass High Pirates Monday afternoon at a neutral Harrison Central field. The single climaxed a three-run Tomcat rally and gave Stone the southern District 8-A championship with a district record of 6-1 and 13-1 overall. The Pirates finished second in the division with a 5-2 district record and a season record of 8-7.

The Pirates jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Myron Cook walked, stole second, and scored on a ground single to right by Paul Stewart. Pass High added another run in the fifth and were threatening with the bases loaded when Ronnie Sizemore was picked off third base.

Donnie Bentz led off the fifth inning with a double, and Sizemore walked. Both runners stole a base with one out, and Cook grounded out to the shortstop with pinch runner Charles Wahl scoring on the play. Parker Duplessis then walked, and Paul Riels elected to intentionally walk Paul Stewart to load the bases, but then Sizemore was thrown out at third base on a pickoff play by the catcher. Stone put two runners on base in the second, fourth, fifth, and sixth innings but were unable to score until the Pirates opened the doors in the seventh with two crucial errors and two questionable defensive decisions.

Peter Sala walked with one out, and Kevin Taylor reached safely on an infield error to put runners at first and third. Taylor then stole second base without drawing a throw, and Stone had the tying run in scoring position. Paul Riels lifted a high sacrifice fly ball to right field, but Sizemore dropped the ball, allowing Riels to reach base safely with runners again on first and third. Again the Tomcats stole second base without drawing a throw, and now the tying and winning runs were in scoring position, setting the stage for Ainsworth's game-winning hit.

Ricky Spring relieved Stone starting pitcher, Paul Riels, in the bottom of the seventh, and the opposing pitcher, Donnie Bentz responded with a single to left. With one out pinch hitter Lonnie Jenkins walked, and the Pirates had runners on first and second base. But Spring retired the next two batters on strikes to preserve the win for Riels.

Riels (7-0) allowed three hits, walked four and fanned 12 in the six innings he worked. He was credited with the win. Spring picked up the save and struck out three Pirates in the one inning he pitched.

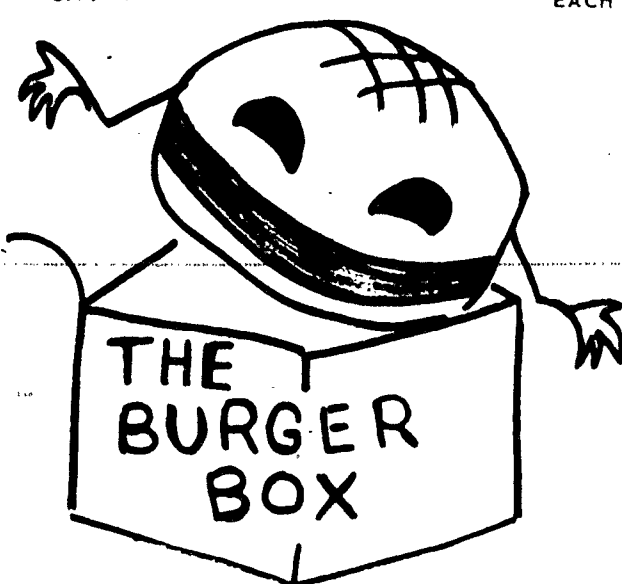

Donnie Bentz was given the loss as he went the distance for the Pirates. He gave up three unearned runs on four hits, walked three and struck out one.

The Sea Coast Echo Player of the Week

Myron Cook of Pass High last week had opposing pitchers shaking their heads in disbelief as he pounded out eight hits in 15 trips to the plate.

He started the week with a dramatic grand slam homer off the previously unbeaten Stone District Tomcats, but that hit was just the start of the week for him. In the next game, Cook blasted a second home run, a three-run shot against d'Iberville.

He ended the week with a perfect four-for-four day at the plate and drove in five runs to raise his week's RBI total to 12.

Cook presently owns a .364 batting average and has the fourth best earned run average (.259) in the area.

Bentz one-hits Tigers

Donnie Bentz of Pass High hurled a one-hit shutout as the Pirates moved to a 7-0 district win over the Bay High Tigers Thursday in Bay St. Louis.

Bentz, who also connected for a two-run homer in the second inning, went the route for the Pirates, fanning nine and walking five.

Adrian Favre got the only hit off Bentz in the bottom of the third inning when he doubled. Niles Blaize pitched all seven innings for the Tigers and received the loss. He gave up seven hits, struck out five, and walked two batters.

The Pirates broke the game open in the third inning when Jack Ulrich doubled in a run and Henry Mailey singled with the bases loaded.

Mark Jenkins got two extra-base hits for the Pirates, a triple and a double.

Belhaven clinic set for May 17

An Athletic Motivation Clinic will be held at Belhaven College in Jackson May 17 aimed at improving local sports programs.

Speakers at the clinic will include Mississippi State head football coach Bob Tyler and State quarterback Rocky Felker, Jackson State's Bob Hill, Jack Carlisle from Ole Miss, Coach Billy Miller of Moss Point High School and Jackson State running back Walter Payton.

For further information write Eagle Day, 1755 Lelia Drive, Suite 228, Jackson, Miss. 39216.

Coach Necaise to help at PRC basketball camp

Coach Mike Necaise of Bay High will be one of four high school coaches helping with the Pearl River Junior College annual basketball camp for boys. The senior division is set for June 9-13; and June 16-20 is reserved for the junior division.

Charles Rea, camp director and PRC head basketball coach, announced the sessions' dates and called attention to the new coliseum that will be available to campers. "In this time of rising cost, we have tried very hard to produce an outstanding camp with an outstanding staff without increasing our prices," Rea said. Cost for the camp will again be $55 per session. A $15 registration fee along with application forms should be submitted no later than June 2. The registration fee is non-refundable.

Registration for the respective campers will be from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., Monday, June 9; and Monday, June 16. Each week's activities will begin at 1 p.m. Monday afternoon.

Coach Rea will boast an outstanding staff of young coaches or former coaches. Heading the list is Larry Ladner, an instructor at the University of Southern Mississippi and one of the originators of the local camp. Ladner coached at Piquette High before moving to USM.

Coach Burt Jenkins, head coach for the Gulfport Commodores will also be on hand. His team recently won the overall Mississippi state championship, posting a perfect 40-0 mark for the season.

Joe Jones, from Decatur, Alabama, will also participate in the local event. Jones won Alabama state championships in three separate classes, and was coach for the Alabama All-Star team on five different occasions.

Besides Necaise, Jenkins, and Jones, Larry Johnson, head coach for the Poplarville Hornets will also be on hand. Johnson and Necaise starred for the PRC Wildcats and continued playing at William Carey College.

Billy Howell, former Mississippi State star under "Babe" McCarty and professional player, will be present during the second camp.

Bearcats lose fourth straight, 7-2

Moss Point, champions of District 8-AA, struck for four runs in the fifth inning to trounce the Long Beach Bearcats 7-2 Monday afternoon in district play at Moss Point. It was the fourth straight loss for the Bearcats.

McKay (5-3) went the distance for Long Beach and gave up just three hits with most of the runs coming on errors. Biggs was credited with the mound triumph for Moss Point. He allowed just four hits, and no batter got more than one hit in the game.

Long Beach, early season picks to win the district title, finished with a 4-5 district slate. Their season record is now 10-6.

Rocks win in 10th inning, 4-3

Mike Favre of Stanislaus tripled in one run and scored the winning run as the Rocks trimmed the Biloxi "B" team 4-3 in ten innings last Wednesday in Biloxi.

The Stanislaus workhorse, Dan Ford, pitched all ten innings and was credited with his sixth win of the season. He fanned ten, walked three, and gave up 14 hits.

In the tenth inning, Mike Graeber led off with a single. Favre tripled him home and then scored on a ground out by Donald Corr. The Indians threatened with two out in the bottom of the inning when Rick Wall doubled and Richard Bouchillon singled him home, but then Ford retired Wally Meaut on a ground out to end the game. Meaut, who pitched in the tenth inning for Biloxi, was charged with the loss.

KANTCHA

KETCHUM

By L.S. (Dec) Elliott

The past weekend wasn't too good for fishing for either salt or fresh water fish. For bass and trout south to south-east winds kept the water high, all over the land, rising instead of falling. Wednesday two of us caught 55 perch and bass. Friday we caught only four fish and Saturday not a one. Goes to prove the tide must be low or falling to catch fish. There was a full moon during last week. Both the tides and winds should change shortly. This weekend should be much better. Salt water fishing out front has been impossible with some fish only being caught way out in the marshes.

Have reports that cat fish are being caught on trout lines and cat fish lines in most bayous, Pearl and Jourdan Rivers.

Will let you know, if and when, soft crabs begin giving. No news as yet. Also few flounders are being speared at this time. Tide is too high.

Watson Johns caught his share of bass in the small bayous around Four Dollar Bayou. He was using both popping and underwater baits. They were hitting in the afternoons he said.

Met three fine young men the other day. They are Ralph Peterson, Ned Whitmore and Kirby Shirley all of New Orleans. All are ardent fishermen and expect to do a lot of fishing over on the Gulf Coast. They are all interested in learning how to fly fish. Come on over fellows, won't take long to learn.

My old buddy M.F. Cass from Hattiesburg was down for a few days with me. Went fishing without much success. He'll be back when conditions get right. You can bet on that. His second hobby now is taking care of two small horses which he rides regularly.

Met Rev. Rasberry from Pearl River, Miss. The Rev. is also a fisherman. Will be out after cat fish this week. Pearl River is a natural place to get 'em, Rev.

Perch are beginning to hit artificial baits on the fly rod. They are also hitting on earth worms and cut shrimp. Find out where they are spawning and you have got it made.

Good places to catch bass and perch on the fly rod are Double Bayou, Four Dollar Bayou or any tributaries to these bayous. In Bayou LaCroix, Jourdan River or up in Rotten Bayou opposite Nicola up Jourdan River. When the tide is falling, they will strike. Of course Pearl River and tributaries are always perfect bass and perch streams. At Logtown, Pearlington, Mike's Island and Double Bayou, down East Middle River, Black Bayou, Mills Bayou, Johnson Pass and Koffman Bayou are hard places to beat when Pearl River is clear. Fishing in these streams should be good shortly.

Fishing on either side of Pearl River is permissible with either a Miss. or Louisiana license. When fishing in either state you must have a license of that state.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK—Al Seely has a camp at Shoreline Park which he shares with his friends. He does a lot of fishing, mostly salt water and catches his share of fish and crabs.

Surprise champions

by upsetting OLA's Tricia Dickinson and Susan Benvenuti in the finals of the district tournament. Both first and second-place teams will travel to the state tennis tournament to be held this Friday in Jackson.

Gulfview PTA plans pet show and seafood dinner

JOURDAN RIVER CLASSIC - Bubby Eagan took top honors in the Flying Scot class in Bay Waveland's Fourth Annual Jourdan River Classic Regatta held April 26 and 27. Eagan and his crew, Ed Turnipseed, moved out to an early lead which they held throughout the long sixteen mile course to finish first in both races. A steady southeast breeze provided excellent sailing conditions for the weekend, although once out of the Bay and into the River, the wind was anything but steady. The ever-changing strength and direction of the puffs off the river banks offered the skippers the constant variety and challenge for which this classic regatta has become famous.

In the Senior Sunfish division Buzzy Heausler finished first in both races, but not without the ever-present threat of Chip Merlin of St. Andrew's Bay Yacht Club who finished with two seconds.

The Junior Sunfish class saw the closest competition with the top five skippers finishing within two points of each other. Leslie Weatherly of Gulfport Yacht Club was the first place winner of the Juniors with a second and a third place finish.

Warriors rally to topple Pirates, 8-6

The d'Iberville Warriors struck for three runs in the seventh inning to down the Pass High Pirates 8-6 last Wednesday in Pascagoula River Conference action at the Pass Christian diamond.

Mike Lee, who came in to relieve starter Rick Stafford for the Warriors, held the Pirates long enough for the d'Iberville bats to get hot and pull the game out.

Pass High jumped out to a big early lead highlighted by home runs by Myron Cook and Mark Jenkins. Cook, who earlier in the week broke open a game against Stone with a grand slam homer, crashed a three-run blow for the Pirates

in the second inning to chase

Stafford from the mound. The next inning Mark Jenkins connected on a solo shot off

Lee to extend the Pirate lead to 5-2.

Jenkins also combined with

Jack Ulrich in the fifth inning for back-to-back-run-scoring doubles that kept the Pirates in front by three, 6-3.

Stafford helped the Warriors' comeback efforts with a two-run homer in the sixth that cut the Pirate lead to 6-5. Then in the seventh, d'Iberville capitalized on an error, two walks and two singles to score three runs.

Henry Malley was charged with the loss for the Pirates.

He relieved Jack Ulrich in the seventh and gave up the two winning runs. Ulrich worked six innings for Pass High, struck out one and walked two.

Lee fanned seven and issued four bases on balls in recording the mound win for d'Iberville.

Tomcats bomb Tigs

The Stone County Tomcats bombed the Bay High Tigers 12-1 Saturday afternoon in Wiggins to set up a district playoff with the Pass High Pirates which the Tomcats won Monday afternoon.

The Tomcats, aided by Paul Riels two-run homer in the fifth, scored their runs in clusters.

Ricky Spring pitched the complete game for the Tomcats, fanning eight and walking two. Niles Blaize started on the mound for the Tigers and lasted until the fifth when he was relieved by Bill Ginn.

Bay High committed nine errors in the game to help cause their own downfall.

The Tigers' lone run came in the fourth inning when Bill

Ginn singled and scored on a double by Niles Blaize.

Busy track

The track at Oak Downs is buzzing with activity following some unusual racing Sunday. Horses awaiting announcement of winner of third race which was run twice include Dial Mark Fiesta (No. 4) and Steel Dust Queen. The third race between the two horses was run once with Dial Mark Fiesta winning by several lengths, but Bubba Ethridge, owner of Steel Dust Queen, claimed his horse was not ready when the gates were pulled and the horsemen agreed to put the horses back in the gate for another race. Dial Mark Fiesta again was victorious, but this time by less than one-hundredth of a second.

Fighting Kid wins at Pearl River

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)

PEARL RIVER, La. - Hancock County horses ran one-wo in one of the top races Sunday at Oak Downs.

Edward "Bubby" Patton's The Fighting Kid captured the 350-yard 12th race while Doug Necaise's Go Far Enuf ran second. Bill Gore's Scoop O' Trouble, one of the betting favorites, ran third.

The Fighting Kid, a beautiful gray, was ridden to victory by Joey Schwankhart, Oak Downs' leading jockey. Ralph Shubert was aboard Go Far Enuf.

A special attraction for racing this Sunday has been announced by the Magnolia Paint Horse Club, Jackson, Miss. The club will sponsor two 300-yard races for paint horses.

Area horsemen who wish to race their paints at Oak Downs should take them to the track Sunday and register for the matches. A small entry fee will be charged. Plans for additional paint horse racing will be discussed Sunday.

Vikings walk, 12-2

The Gulfport East Vikings capitalized on Pass High's emotional letdown after a playoff loss the day before and walked over the Pirates 12-2 at McDonald Field in Pass Christian Tuesday afternoon.

The Pirate pitchers contributed to their own demise by serving up 12 bases on balls, and the defense helped with seven errors as the Vikings used only five hits to roll up the big win.

DeWease pitched all seven innings for the Vikings and was given the win. He fanned six, walked one and gave up four hits. Henry Malley started the game for the Pirates and was charged with the loss. He issued eight free passes and struck out four batters. Cook relieved Malley in the fifth, walked four batters and struck out two.
